Cloth Diaper Friday :: Charlie Banana Diapers ~ Giveaway *CLOSED

Published September 2, 2011 | By Julie Kieras

I've been so excited to share this diaper with you! Ever since I heard about Charlie Banana diapers, I have wanted to try them out.

I do love one-size diapers for their ability to travel through a baby's growth spurts! The majority of my diapers are one-sized for this reason. Charlie Banana sent me their Goodbye Disposable, Hello Cloth One Size diaper to test out, and we've been loving it. And not just for the cute saying on the bum (but that helps!).

I personally love the fit. The trio of snaps on the sides let you adjust the fit for a snug waist and thigh opening. The wide elastic leg casing is among the best I've seen for keeping in messes (of course, at this point I am dealing with solids, not the runny newborn poo, so I can't speak from experience on that!).

Another great feature is the front pocket opening. It's nice and stretchy which makes it easy to stuff and arrange the inserts. Having the opening in front lets me adjust the diaper insert a bit more towards the front (which is great for boys!).

The inner fleece lining super soft and reported not to stain easily. So far, I haven't had mine stain! Charlie Banana diapers come with two microfleece inserts – they are nice and thick! I have been able to use them for night time diapering with 100% success rate! No need to add any more stuffing!

Want more from your diaper? Charlie Banana diapers are 2-in-1 Hybrids! The front pocket flap lets you utilize a disposable insert (also sold by Charlie Banana) instead of a reusable one if you prefer. I didn't have the opportunity to review these, but I read on their site that they are recommended for traveling with cloth!

The Goodbye Disposable, Hello Cloth diaper is a limited time only custom diaper. Charlie Banana would love to motivate families to give up their disposables for good! This mama is more than motivated already, but maybe there are some readers who just want to try it out... you'd have a lot of fun with this cute printed diaper. Or any of the other cute colors and patterns offered! Check out this Under Construction print! So cute for boys!

BUY IT: Charlie Banana diapers retail for $17-25. Charlie Banana carries sized or One Size diapers to suit your needs, as well as cloth wipes, liners, disposable inserts, and extra microfiber inserts!

WIN IT: One lucky reader will receive a Goodbye Disposables, Hello Cloth One Size diaper! What a great way to get started (or keep going) with cloth diapering!

How to enter: Leave a comment for each entry task (1 comment/1 entry—total 4)
