Win a diaper butt as cute as this!

A few weeks ago, we finally started cloth diapering. Now that we've switched to the cloth, my son hasn't been back in a disposable once. I am using a combination of three different brands, one of which (and probably my favorite) is Charlie Banana.

I was lucky enough to be sent a few products to test out from the nice folks at the Charlie Banana brand, and since then I've shelled out my own money to order more, so you can be sure my opinion is genuine. Charlie Banana cloth diapers are extremely soft, well-made, and they are entirely chemical-free and natural. A bit more from their website...

We live in a world full of chemicals, full of cheap items that do not deliver what they promise. Many of us do not realize the full extent of the chemicals we apply on ourselves and on our children – from food, cosmetics, clothing, personal hygiene and cleaning products we use. We wanted to make something truly unique and to promote items that are basic but so much better for the health of the whole family, for our world, and for everyone's wallet.

We're giving away a cloth diaper package valued at $150 – keep reading to find out how you can win!

The Charlie Banana diapers have a number of qualities that I love. First off, I really respect their mission statement, and it feels good to use and support a company that is so passionate about protecting both our children and our environment. Their efforts to make a high quality product have definitely paid off.

The diapers are lined with a fleece fabric that is softer and more comfortable than any of the other cloth diaper I've tried. The inserts are thick and absorbent, and each diaper comes with two to provide for maximum absorption capability. Since we started using these, we've had no leaks or blowouts, which is a major WIN in my book!

There are several different options to choose from – one size diapers, sized diapers, swim diapers, disposable liners, reusable cloth wipes, and more. The variety of colors and patterns available make picking out your baby's diaper just as fun as getting them dressed in the morning. Here is a small sample of the adorable diapers you can choose from...

Love not having to take out the trash, love how cute they are, love saving money!

MERYL COMMENTED ON JAN 25 12 AT 12:18 PM

I love that we have less trash then when we used disposables. And no diaper rash!

I am so excited about getting back into cloth diapers, I used them with my first and can't believe how much they have changed in 6 years between pregnancies.

I am due in two weeks... and I am looking forward to all the money that we will save cloth diapering. Oh, and that reduction in our carbon footprint, of course!

I currently cloth diaper my son and we're expecting our second which we will also be cloth diapered! I love that I don't have to run to the store all the time to pick up diapers, I LOVE the money saving over time and I most especially enjoy the lack of garbage. I seriously can't imagine how many disposable diapers are going into landfills but they have to be in the gazillions.
