Matthew Langille for Charlie Banana Fashion Diaper Collection - Known around the world for their collection of eco-friendly baby and children's products, Charlie Banana combines quality and design in each one of their pieces. Recently, Charlie Banana has collaborated with designer and illustrator Matthew Langille on their reusable, one-sized fashion diapers.

Matthew Langille is "Red Dot Award" winning designer who has worked with over 150 fashion houses and design firms all across the globe including Marc Jacobs, Swatch, adidas Originals and many more. Matthew's illustrations are usually a perfect combination of cute, playful and funny, making him a perfect contender when working with children's specific products.

The bright and whimsical one-sized diapers in this collection feature robots, puppies, kitties, bears, cute scribbly messages, hearts and much more. They also include reusable and disposable inserts in order to make things a lil easier when needed.
