During my last pregnancy I was introduced to Figure 8 Maternity, a lovely site that carries several maternity items but also nursing apparel, post-partum products and accessories, as well as many type of baby items. I didn't, however realize they also carry a vast selection of cloth diapers from several different brands. Most knowing that we love fluff in our household, I was glad to try a new diaper we have never used before but I've heard a lot about -- Charlie Banana and Figure 8 Maternity keeps them in stock, in several different colors, patterns, and sizes. We received the Charlie Banana 2-in-1, One-Sized cloth diaper in black for my son. So far I have been thrilled with the function of this pocket diaper. The snap buttons allow for a children of different sizes to wear with ease, my son being close to 2.5 is getting close to potty training and weighs just about 30 lbs, so this diaper is on it's largest setting. I love the adjustable elastic in the legs making for a wonderful secure fit and providing no leaks for us so far! I have problems with my son not wanting to wear certain cloth diapers and this is one that he never complains about. Overall I've been very happy with this diaper and am very glad to have it added to our fluffy collection, I would definitely recommend it.

Check out the fantastic sale Figure 8 Maternity has going on for the winter - great deals.
