New Charlie Banana Diaper Prints?! Really?

I love, love, love new diaper colors and prints. It's fun. It's cute. It works with my neurotic need to coordinate Norton's diapers with his outfits. As it stands right now, I have one Charlie Banana diaper in my cloth diaper stash. I rather like my Charlie Banana diaper; it has a lot of similarities to Fuzzi Bunz.

My Charlie Banana diaper is made of awesome because it is black, and every child using cloth diapers needs at least one black diaper.

I was surfing the internet this morning and I found out that there will be new Charlie Banana diaper prints coming out soon. I'm rather envious of those who are going to the ABC Baby Show (even more envious than I was of the bloggers who went to BlogHer!) because that's when the new collection will be unveiled.

I actually hope that I hate the new collection; I don't need to buy any more new cloth diapers to add to my cloth diaper stash. However, I'm quite certain that there will be new cloth diapers in that collection that I love and have to have.

Probably at least one. And I'm equally certain that my favorite cloth diaper store will get the new colors and patterns in; she loves new fluff. (And really, what's not to love? New fluff is exciting and fun. It's kind of like going out and buying a new pair of shoes.)

Then again, it's fall. All of my favorite cloth diaper companies are announcing their new colors. The new GroVia diapers were announced in the beginning of September. I just saw on Facebook today that BumGenius announced some new colors coming out around Christmas.

What's really hard about all of this new and fun fluff coming out is that I know perfectly well that I absolutely, positively do not need to buy any new cloth diapers. I have to be even more choosy about buying diapers than I usually am. (And, yeah, even though I have gobs of diapers, I'm actually pretty picky and will only keep diapers that I really do love. It makes me wish that I could somehow magically become a diaper tester or something. Then I get all of the fun but none of the "risk" of buying a new diaper that I don't like.)

Are you looking forward to any new cloth diapers? Which ones have you excited?
